THE BOSS
This guy looks like he's in charge - but he's not even wearing a tie. And he doesn't have to: there's already enough going on in the details. The unexpected blazer looks great over the printed shirt and the subtle colours mean the shirt and jacket are working together, instead of competing. Add some classic leather wingtip brogues for a touch of sophistication.

MASTER MULTI-TASKING COLOUR

Shelve your greys this season. It's time to embrace a wide range of colours and botanical prints. The big focus is on summery hues of blue and green with a touch of yellow are the ones to embrace. If colour blocking feels a bit out there, sport the trend with accessories that pop, such as bright sneakers, watches or shades.

KICK BACK
Lose your old running shoes and start winning with a bold summer version of your favourite tankies. Wear them with a lightweight knit and a pair of above-the-knee shorts for laidback weekends at the beach or pool. Details like asymmetrical laces make all the difference.

POP OF COLOUR
Another way to boost your colour credentials: accessorise. A bright canvas or woven belt works best with darker clothes – that way it's the only stand-out colour.

12_OCTOBER 2012_MM_SUMMER GUIDE TO STYLE

BRIGHTEN UP, MY CHIN!
Instead of relying on your T-shirt for bold colour, upgrade your chinos. Instead, Red makes a lasting impression, but it's a powerful colour, so use it sparingly. Tone things down with a classic white shirt or gilet, or opt for chinos in a lighter, washed-out shade (like this faded green).

EARN YOUR STRIPES
Would you rather walk the plank than wear sailor stripes? Don't. Stripes are still acceptable, wearable and they fit most body shapes. Instead of a standard-issue crew neck, try unexpected shapes like a loose vest worn under a jacket.

POOL-WORTHY BOARDIES

Warm and sunny means lots of shorts, bold colours and patterns, but don't mistake these for saggy, oversized boardshorts and clashing prints. What you need is a pair of swimming shorts that are slightly shorter than your Nineties pair.

THE FIVE POCKET TREND

For a pair of shorts that are perfect for the beach or bar, try these "hybrid" boardshorts. Hybrids have all the benefits of boardies (they're quick drying and water repellent), but the styling of everyday shorts (five pockets and belt loops).

ACCESSORIES

Summer sun is great, except when it's reflecting bright beach sand into your eyes. Pack a pair of go-anywhere folding Wayfarers. Other key summer accessories: a bright rubber strapped watch and some leather or silver neckchains for a bit of an edge.
