GLITTERING EYES

Layering different textures will help your make-up stay put in even the most humid climate. For an effortless daytime look, creamy eyeshadows will melt into the skin. After dark, pump up the volume by adding a layer of powder eyeshadow in a similar hue. Stick to tawny or bronze shades – they're versatile and fuss-free.

HEAD-TO-TOE BEAUTY

Sunshine, seawater and humidity can take a toll on your skin, which is why extra TLC is so important. Use a body cream with a good SPF: it will help protect your skin. However it shouldn't replace your sunscreen which must be applied frequently throughout the day. Also, choose a cleanser that doubles as a face mask - it's a post-long-haul flight save.

LOW-KEY LIPS

Lipstick is a great multi-tasker as it can be used as a lip colour as well as a creamy blusher. Gently pat it on your lips with your ring finger for a subtle stain and then dab a little onto your cheeks and blend for a radiant glow. Bright shades are more versatile than their neutral counterparts – you can't go wrong with coral or fuchsia.
