Only the brave

She has been through a lot, but is recovering. She's not out of the woods, and may experience further setbacks before regaining full health. But she's optimistic, and so is her team. Sometimes it's hard to know who's inspiring who.

New perspectives

Rethinking healthcare is our mission, and it means going beyond the usual environments. We need to get fresh perspectives from new places, and inspiration from different people. Keeping an open mind so we don't miss the opportunity to discover new things.

It's perfect

First time in years I've got my arms out.
Been nervous, afraid. Built up to this moment, had support and now feel like myself again.
Shame I can't control the weather.

doing nothing

He's been training for this for months, he's practiced and studied hard. But this is the moment of truth. For both of them. Time for the trainee to step up, and the mentor to step back.

Years of pain, a long surgery, months of
